We are very pleased to announce that the 6th Croatian Geological Congress (6th HGK) will be held in Zagreb, Croatia, at the Hotel International, from 9th to the 12th October, 2019, hosted by the:

Croatian Geological Society
Croatian Geological Survey
Faculty of Science, Department of Geology, University of Zagreb
Faculty of Mining, Geology and Petroleum Engineering, University of Zagreb
INA - Industrija nafte d.d.
Croatian Natural History Museum
Faculty of Geotechnical Engineering, Varaždin, University of Zagreb

HGK is the Croatian international congress on geological research, where geologists and researchers in Earth and related sciences as well as engineers gather to share their research results and developments in all geological fields related both to Croatia and the wider area. The past five Croatian geological congresses have been a very important source of geological information regarding the state of geological research in Croatia and the neighboring countries.

The 6th HGK will be organized along with the celebration of 110 Years of the Croatian Geological Survey (HGI-CGS) founded by Dragutin Gorjanović-Kramberger in 1909. During its 110 years of existence HGI-CGS has been gathering, producing and preserving knowledge about the geology of Croatia and its adjacent countries through collaborations on all levels.

We invite you and your colleagues to submit abstracts of your original work for presentation at the Congress. The abstract submission deadline is until the 15th of May 2019, through the 6th HGK official website (<http://projects.hgi-cgs.hr/6HGK2019/predaja-sazetaka>).

One of the key objectives of HGK is the promotion of junior contributions and the fostering of state-of-the art scientific research by the HGK Young Researcher Award. Accordingly, any student or researcher younger than 35 can be a candidate for the "HGK Young Researcher Award". Proof of age needs to be submitted - a scanned copy of identification is to be uploaded in a file named – "Your initial_2019_ID" (example: John Doe will submit a file named "JD_2019_ID"). Only accepted abstracts will be considered for the Young Researcher Award.

We also hope you can join us on the 9th of October, 2019 to celebrate this important anniversary of the HGI-CGS.

6th CROATIAN GEOLOGICAL CONGRESS with international participation

A wonderful platform to meet new and old friends and colleagues, and to discuss Earth science research issues as well as create partnerships that will make geology a vital science more visible to societies threatened by climate change!
